Main news

- US health officials are recommending that all Americans get COVID-19 booster jabs to increase their protection amid the surging delta variant and evidence that the vaccines' effectiveness is falling.
- New Zealand's government has put the entire nation into a strict lockdown for at least three days after finding a single case of coronavirus infection.
- The number of children hospitalized with COVID-19 has hit a record-high in the United States, with more than 1,900 pediatric hospitalisations. In the US, children below 12 years of age are still not eligible to receive the coronavirus vaccine.
- Australia's most populous state – New South Wales (NSW) – went into a new lockdown on Saturday that will last at least seven days, as COVID-19 cases continue to increase.
- The WHO has urged China to share the raw data from its earliest cases of the coronavirus saying it was "vitally important" to understand the virus' origins to prevent future pandemics.
